SAVINGS BANKS.

No. 4873.

The 4th December, 1891.

ORDER—By the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department.

READ—

Report by the Comptroller and Auditor General on the operations of the Savings Banks in India for the year 1890-91 and annexed statements.

No. 56, dated Calcutta, the 23rd November, 1891.

From—STEPHEN JACOB, Esq., Officiating Comptroller and Auditor General,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit my report on the operations of the Savings Banks in India, for the year 1890-91.

2. There are two descriptions of these Banks, vis., Banks open to the public and Service Institutions, the former comprise Presidency and Post Office Banks, and the latter State Railway Provident Institutions, Civil Engineers' Provident Fund and Military Banks. The State Railway Provident Institutions are for the non-pensionable employés of the State Railways, Civil Engineers' Provident Fund is for the officers of the Public Works and Telegraph Departments, and the Military Banks are for the benefit of non-commissioned officers and privates of British regiments.

3. I annex the usual statements marked I to VII, containing the accounts and statistics for the year, the principal features of which are summarised in the tables given in paragraphs 5 and 6, from which the following facts are gathered. On the 31st March 1891 there were 6,642 Government Savings Banks in India, comprising 4,75,329 accounts, which earned from Government R 27,97,935 in the shape of interest, and possessed balances at their credit aggregating R 8,06,06,757. In addition to these balances, Government held on behalf of the depositors' Government securities of the nominal value of R 4,16,200, and sold for or returned to them during the year Government Promissory Notes amounting to R 3,74,800. There has been an increase this year of 96 in the number of Banks, 43,524 in the number of depositors, and R 52,88,157 in the balance, as compared with 1889-90.

4. The deposits received and interest earned during the year under review exceeded those of last year by R 14,40,000 and R 78,878, respectively, while withdrawals fell short of those of last year by R 47,56,000. The low limit of total annual deposits, which makes depositors avoid drawing upon the banks as much as possible, and the check on investments placed by the premium commanded by securities, have combined to reduce the withdrawals.

5. The transactions of the several classes of Banks are shown in the following table:—

DESCRIPTION OF BANKS.	Number of Banks.	Number of Depositors.	Interest earned.	Bank balances.	NOMINAL VALUE OF GOVERNMENT PROMISSORY NOTES.
					Returned and sold.	Held for Depositors.
			R	R	R	R
Presidency, Calcutta	1	11,065	83,995	23,63,837	12,500	19,800
„ Madras	1	2,901	19,601	5,26,932	28,000	...
„ Bombay	1	25,008	2,62,890	72,66,120	3,300	28,800
Railway	13	14,151	1,36,473	40,97,859	15,700	1,000
Civil Engineers	1	559	58,393	16,31,324
Military	170	13,101	52,238	12,53,278
Post Office	6,455	4,08,544	21,84,345	6,34,67,407	3,15,300	3,66,600
TOTAL	6,642	4,75,329	27,97,935	8,06,06,757	3,74,800	4,16,200

6. The subjoined statement compares the figures for the year under report with those of last year for each class of Bank. The Presidency Bank, Calcutta, shows an increase both in the number of accounts and the amount of balance, but the Madras and Bombay Banks show a decrease in both respects, owing probably to the transfer of accounts to the Post Office Banks. The number of Post Office Banks as well as the number of depositors and the amount of balance in them have exceeded those of last year by 105,50,272 and R47,70,652, respectively. The progress in Railway and Civil Engineers' Provident Institutions is only what could be expected from their peculiar constitution as explained in last year's report. The Military Banks, in Bengal and Bombay, show a falling off both in the number of accounts and amount of balance, while those of Madras show a small increase.

Increase or decrease in 1890-91, as compared with 1889-90.

7. The investments by depositors in Government Promissory Notes have fallen off as indicated in Statement VI. This is no doubt due to the price of Government paper having stood above par throughout the year under report, though the premium was not so high as during the current year. Depositors were naturally slow to invest in Government Securities in expectation of lower rates, which, however, have not been realised. From Statement VII, which gives by provinces the particulars of Presidency and Post Office Savings Banks combined, it will be observed that the growth of depositors' balances is spread over all the provinces: though it is largest in Bengal and Bombay, the latter maintains its relative superiority when its population is taken into account.

8. Under the orders of Government the check of the accounts of State Railway Provident Institutions has been transferred this year to the Public Works Examiners concerned. I keep the accounts of the Civil Engineers' Provident Fund only, and they have been agreed with the accounts kept by the Examiner of Accounts, Military Works, and the figures for the year 1890-91 are subject to correction on the closing of the Finance and Revenue Accounts, which remain open up to February next.

LEAVE AND PENSION.

No. 4863.

The 4th December 1891.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department.

READ—

Resolution by the Government of India in this Department, No. 5800, dated the 12th December 1890.

Despatch to the Secretary of State, No. 393, dated 17th December 1889.

Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 125, dated 25th June 1891.

RESOLUTION.—In the Resolution read in the preamble, the decisions arrived at on some of the recommendations made in the report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on East India (Civil Servants) were published. His Excellency the Governor General in Council now directs the publication of the final decisions on the other questions, which arose in connection with the report of the Committee, and which were in December 1890 held over for further consideration in communication with Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India. These were—

- (a) The recommendation contained in the following extract from the report :—

“Your Committee are further of opinion that the greater part of the grievances of the Uncovenanted Service is due to the ambiguity of the terms in which services have from time to time been stated, and recommend that in future there shall be as nearly as possible a uniform scheme, which shall explicitly describe the terms of pension and furlough.”

- (b) The following remarks of the Committee :—

“Your Committee have had their attention called to the obstacles in taking furlough, arising from the insufficiency of the present furlough pay, and they recommend this matter to the consideration of the Secretary of State in Council.”

- (c) The question as to what action should be taken with reference to the complaints made to the Committee regarding the reservation, in Articles 5 to 7 of the Civil Service Regulations, of the right of the Government to change or modify the pension and furlough rules from time to time and to interpret their meaning.

2. The Government of India are of opinion that the leave and pension rules, as contained in the Civil Service Regulations, are not open to the charge of ambiguity, though from the necessity of the case they are elaborate and complicated. The Regulations have acquired their present form in the course of years, the object of the modifications made from time to time having been, while assimilating as far as possible the conditions of service for similar classes in different branches of the Administration, to remove all ambiguity from the rules, and to enable, on the one hand, officers to ascertain their rights and privileges, and, on the other hand, to enable Local Governments and executive authorities to decide without reference to the Government of India the great mass of questions in regard to leave and pension which necessarily come before them.

3. In view of the great differences which exist in the conditions of service of the many branches of the public service, and in the circumstances of appointments of officers to different branches and sometimes to the same branch, it is not possible to introduce one scheme of leave and pension rules applicable to all branches of the Civil Service. His Excellency the Governor General in Council considers that the Civil Service Regulations cannot be materially abbreviated or simplified without risk of causing ambiguity and a return to the former state of uncertainty, which existed before the rules were codified. His Excellency in Council will always bear in mind the desirability of simplifying the rules wherever possible; but the Civil Service Regulations, without any material alteration in form, must for some time continue to be the authoritative declaration of the rules relating to leave and pension.

4. In order, however, that the more important rules regarding leave and pension may be available in a shorter and more convenient form, a pamphlet containing the principal regulations in a condensed form is being prepared, and will be issued hereafter.

5. The remarks of the Committee quoted in clause (b) of paragraph 1 of this Resolution have been understood by the Secretary of State and by the Government of India to have reference to the absence of any minimum furlough allowance. The decision on this question is contained in the following extracts from the Secretary of State's Despatch of the 25th June 1891:—

"I concur with Your Excellency in thinking that there are certain cases in which it is desirable to guarantee a minimum leave allowance, but I am of opinion that it will be sufficient to give £200 a year, or 75 per cent. of the last salary in India, converted at the rate annually fixed for adjustment, whichever of the two sums may be the less.

* * * * *

"The leave rules are, in my opinion, sufficiently liberal in the concessions made to those who voluntarily take leave of absence; and if they desire to come to this country, I see no reason for giving them an increase of pay beyond that at present permissible. There is, however, a difference in the case of persons whose health may have broken down in India, and who are ordered by a Medical Board to seek the restoration of their health in a temperate climate. Such officers have no option in the matter; and it is reasonable to allow them such a moderate amount of pay as may enable them to avail themselves of the leave ordered for them. Hence I am disposed, if Your Excellency should agree, to consent to the grant of the minimum rates above mentioned in cases of sick leave, and to half those rates in similar cases where quarter pay is at present admissible. I leave it to Your Excellency to determine from what date the privilege should commence."

His Excellency the Governor General in Council has accepted these proposals and has fixed the 1st July 1891 as the date from which they shall have effect.

6. Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, having examined the particular instances which were mentioned in support of the complaints referred to in clause (c) of paragraph 1 of this Resolution, regarding the manner in which the right to alter the leave and pension rules had been exercised by the Government of India, expressed the opinion that in none of them had there been any interference with the rights of the servants of the Government. The Government of India have always been careful to exercise the right of altering rules with due consideration for the rights of their servants. The ordinary course adopted to prevent hardship arising from any change of rule found necessary has been either to defer the introduction of the change for some time after its publication, or to give the officers affected the right of choosing whether they shall come under the operation of the old or of the new rules. It has been decided that the right of altering rules must be maintained, that care should be taken, as in the past, to prevent the introduction of any new rules from operating harshly, but that the Local Governments and the Government of India should not consider themselves precluded from recommending an exception in any case of individual hardship which may arise in spite of the precautions taken. If any case of apparent hardship arises, the local authorities should understand that, when the officer applies to retire, they are not precluded from examining into its merits and ascertaining whether, in their opinion, he has substantially suffered from the introduction of a rule not in force at the time he entered the service. If, after comparing the advantages secured to the officer by the altered rules with any disadvantages incidentally involved, they find that he has on the whole substantially suffered, the point may be taken into consideration in determining whether some compensation ought not to be granted in the particular instance.

7. A list of amendments to the Civil Service Regulations is appended to this Resolution, showing the additions and corrections made in accordance with the foregoing decisions.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to all Departments of the Government of India; to all Local Governments and Administrations; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; to all Accountants General and Comptrollers; the Director General of Post Offices; the Mint and Assay Masters, Calcutta and Bombay; the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue; and the Superintendent, Government Printing, India.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

ADDENDA AND CORRIGENDA TO THE CIVIL SERVICE REGULATIONS.
